Great Fire in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—A fire broke out this morning in the building formerly occupied by the New York World, in the same block with the Times building, but separated from it by an intervening building. The block in which the fire broke out is an irregular-shaped gore, with the building formerly occupied by the World on its southeast corner, and the Times building occupying the entire northern angle of the gore. The Tribune office is diagonally across Nassau street from the Times building, and the Sun office is on the upper corner of the same block with the Tribune.

The fire is said to have originated in the engine room, which adjoins the elevator shaft, and the fire gained its impetus before the alarm was given. When the flames did break out they raged with extraordinary fury. They leaped from the bottom to the top of the building like a flash, and rolled upwards in great sheets.

The total insurance is estimated at $750,000. The Secretary of the Board of Fire Underwriters said: "The losses are scattered about among so many insurance companies, that no single company will be much affected."

Competent judges sum up the total loss of all property, including the building, at over $1,000,000. The number of losers is prodigious. The burned building was known as the Potter Building, and was valued at $300,000; but it was old, and the total loss in its destruction is not over $200,000. It was insured for $175,000.
